Lifesaving Society New Brunswick

Sport is back

Following an 18-month lifesaving sport recess, the Society is thrilled to congratulate Parlee Beach Provincial Park and the Parlee Beach Lifesaving Club – hosts and Champions of the 2021 New Brunswick Waterfront Lifesaving Championships. Thank you to the 51 athletes, coaches and officials from Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and PEI who came together and made the Championships a success.

Bronze Update Clinic – last call!

Affiliates must implement the new Bronze medal awards by June 2022. If you intend to teach the Society's revised Bronze medal awards, you must attend an Explore Bronze Update clinic. The Clinic has no fee and is worth three credits towards your leadership recertification.

Contact your local aquatic facility or:

- 1. Email the Lifesaving Society to be added to the wait list for the next online Explore Bronze Update Clinic.
- 2. Read What's New for Instructors.
- 3. Order the new Bronze Medals Award Guide.

If you have questions or need more information about the Explore Bronze Update Clinic, contact the Society's Training Programs Manager, Grégoire Cormier. September 2021

Ace your back-to-pool test sheets

As you prepare for fall courses, take a moment to make sure you've crossed your t's and dotted your i's. Even little mistakes can slow the processing of test sheets. Follow our checklist below to ace your next test sheet submission.

Before the course:

- Check instructor currency Double check the award currency of your Instructors, Examiners and Trainers. If someone needs to recertify, here's the process.
- Get updated Attend an Explore Bronze Update Clinic before teaching the Society's revised Bronze medal awards. Read what's new for affiliates.
- Check prerequisites Use Find a Member to check candidate prerequisites on the first day of the course. Awards can't be processed without the required prerequisites.

After the course:

- Use the correct form Visit Find a Form to make sure you have the correct test sheet for the course you're teaching! Our revised Bronze medal awards come with new sheets.
- Complete all information Fill out every page of every test sheet completely – even when information is duplicated, like signatures. Missing or incomplete information slows processing. Pay particular attention to:
 - » Date of birth Allows us to check age prerequisites and is a secondary search mechanism in our database.
 - » Candidate contact information Ensures candidates receive their certification card in the mail. Phone and email contacts let us follow up if their mail is returned.
 - » Lifesaving Society ID# Allows us to find the right "John Smith" on your course, instead of the other 25 "John Smiths" in our system.

- Submit your test sheet Send us your test sheet after the course. We process test sheets based on received date. The sooner you send them in, the sooner we send out the awards to candidates. Don't let them pile up.
- Use fillable forms Head to Find a Form on our website to download fillable test sheets. Handwritten, scanned or faxed test sheet are hard to read.

Missing an ID number? Can't find the form you need? Call or email Ryan Munn and he'll solve your problem.

World Drowning Prevention Day

In April, the United Nations declared July 25 World Drowning Prevention Day as part of its historic Resolution on Drowning Prevention. To mark the inaugural event, the Lifesaving Society partnered with Parlee Beach Provincial Park and the Parlee Beach Lifesaving Club to provide free Swim to Survive lessons to kids at the beach.

Thank you to volunteers: Marcel Bourgeois, Hanane Hammioui, Gabrielle Léger, Catherine Laplante, Christine Ryan and Ethan Toner who spent the day teaching children how to survive an unexpected fall into deep water.
